AX 183B-NEW

[redacted] alleges that Clint Murchison, owner of the Dallas Cowboys Football Team and myriad business interests, is engaged in an ongoing corrupt relationship involving several individuals and other corporations. 7X

The principal allegation provided by [redacted] is that one [redacted] who [redacted] alleges to be a former [redacted] paid a $79,000 bribe to [redacted] who was involved in the Brillab investigation to keep Clint Murchison's name out of the investigation. [redacted] further alleges that [redacted] was interviewed by FBI agents and denied any knowledge of [redacted]

[redacted] alleged that an organization named Burbank International, which operates in the state of Maryland from an office building in the vicinity of White Flint Mall, was owned by Murchison, [redacted] and an individual named [redacted] of Dallas, Texas. [redacted] alleges that this demonstrates the fact that [redacted] is not just an agent of Murchison but rather a full-time associate.

[redacted] detailed several other financial transactions involving Korland Corporation of Rockville, Maryland, and Corland Electronics of New York. He indicated that Korland of Rockville, Maryland, may have filed a false federal tax return in 1979 indicating a one and one-half million dollar payment to a vendor which was not actually paid.

[redacted] advised that he became involved with this group through [redacted] ARRCO International, Limited, a Virginia corporation which corporation name stands for American Resources Recovery System. He indicated that [redacted] company had developed a process to turn waste material into energy and that this process has been unjustifiably taken [redacted] by Thermonetics, Inc., of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. He indicated that Thermonetics is owned 80% by Clint Murchison and 20% by [redacted] further alleges that this outfit has had numerous dealings with [redacted] [redacted], a [redacted] for the Washington Redskins Football Team who is now extremely active among the independent carters in the New York City garbage business. He indicated that [redacted] had recently organized the New York Waste Energy Corporation which allegedly will open offices in the World Trade Center.

[] was allegedly flown by [] to Alpena, Michigan, to meet with officials of the Besser Company regarding the garbage to energy conversion formula. [] alleges to have met with [] (phonetic), and several others on the board of directors of the New York Waste Association at a place located at 77 Becker Street, New York, N. Y. [] alleges that this is some type of private club way down in Greenwich Village.

[] willingness to discuss this entire situation with the FBI appears to be motivated by great bitterness on his part toward Murchison and his associates as the result of his [] being forced out of his business. However, it is possible that some or all of the information furnished by [] in this regard may be accurate. It is, therefore, the intention of the Alexandria Division to set forth the below-listed leads and analyze the results. Any office having an intense investigative interest in this matter should immediately notify the Bureau and the Alexandria Division and assume office of origin status. It is noted that none of the violations alleged by [] have taken place within the territory of the Alexandria Division.

REQUEST OF THE BUREAU

It is requested that the following individual and corporate names be searched through Bureau indices:
